

The more legislators siphon away money for pet projects and privatization means less for public schools and teacher pay.

- taxpayer money goes to private schools that can discriminate
- 50% state tax credit to donors

$207 million 2011 - 2022

- taxpayer money goes to schools that do not have the same accountability requirements with public school districts

$1.9 billion 2012 - 2021

- 99% of the taxpayer money goes to religious schools that can (and many do) discriminate

$1.4 billion 2011 - 2022

This year approx 52,000 kids are using vouchers. The highest number yet. The majority are white, middle class, and never would attend public school in the first place.

- Currently only for special education students.
- Money goes to a fund to withdraw from.
- Families waive certain protections granted to them in public schools.

$10 million allocated for the first year

Less than 1 year in, legislators want to open this program to all students. They have not yet said what it will cost taxpayers.

- taxpayer money goes to unaccountable online charter schools with no oversight
- fraud has happened in Indiana

$493 million 2012 - 2021

Indiana Virtual still owes Indiana $154 million.

And what's left goes to educate students in Indiana's community public schools.

Distribution amounts to innovation network charter schools are based on the written agreement between IPS and each innovation network charter school and specific amounts are not available.*

Does not include other revenue streams afforded to charter schools.

Does not include Excel schools.

Private schools and providers of services under the new ESAs are allowed to decide which students can attend or purchase their services. They can choose to exclude any students. This means they can discriminate against students on the basis of: special needs, sexual orientation, personality, family values, etc. They can choose to exclude any students for any reason, or for no reason at all.*